

GREEN GOODS MEN CAUGHT AT PISTOL POINT

Captured in Their Lair
by Sleuth Disguised as Farmer.

"COME-ON" A SURPRISE.

Battie Made Swindlers Shackle
Themselves While He Held Them Up.

The tables were neatly turned last night on two green-goods men in the back parlor of a house in Fifty-fifth street, near Ninth avenue. The men who did it were Detective Sergeant Battie, of Police Headquarters, and his partner, Sergeant Archibola.

A gang of New York swindlers have been flooding Milford, Oakland County, Mich., with circulars offering $10,000 bonus money, guaranteed to pass anywhere, for $1,000 in cash. John St. Wooten, a Milford farmer, who had received one of the circulars, informed the Post-office officials, and they in turn informed the police here. Wooten was told to answer the circular and make an arrangement to meet the green-goods men at the Grand Central Station at 7 o'clock last evening. The swindlers, in reply, requested him to carry a yellow handkerchief and a satchel when he "came on."

"Rube" Was Sleuth.
Battie, made up as the Michigan farmer, got off the train at the Grand Central Station. He had the yellow handkerchief in his hand and was at once approached by a thick-set man who placed his hand on his shoulder. This was the signal for Battie to "wheeler" to the stranger the password, "Heart of gold." The stranger led the disguised detective to a cab, in which after driving about town, they stopped at the house in Fifty-fifth street.

In the back parlor Battie and his companion were met by another man who had ten bundles of colored paper laid out on a table in which there was exactly $204 in gold money placed here and there in the bundles. Meantime the detective's partner, Detective Archibola, who followed in another cab, had gained access to the house as a building inspector unknown to the green goods men. Then Battie said:

"I have just $1,000 in this bag to buy your $10,000 with, and have also sent by express $50,000 more. I want to buy as much of your money as I can," and, handing a pretended express receipt to the men, Battie started to get his $1,000 out while they were reading the receipt.

Producing two revolvers from the bag Battie suddenly ordered the men to hold up their hands. They were taken completely by surprise and did as ordered. "Now, gentlemen, you see I have two guns here for active work. There are no more in the bag for my partner. He will be here in a minute, and with this remark Battie pulled the trigger and there was a report.

It was a blank cartridge, the signal for Archibola to enter. As Archibola came in, Battie threw two pairs of handcuffs to the men, ordering them to lock their own hands. They lost no time in obeying.

At headquarters the prisoners said they were Thomas Ryan, fifty-four years old, no address, and James Gilbert, forty-five years old, no address. Ryan's picture is in the Rogues' Gallery, Nos. 10, 121, and Gilbert, who was recognized as James Fitzgerald, is tagged No. 9,661 among the confidence men.

After buying a pair of wives and a pair of husbands a hopeful couple decided to make a third try to-day, a Jersey City justice officiating. The two who have twice laid aside the weeds for the orange blossoms are John C. Ruge, forty-six years old, of London, England, and Mrs. Mary B. Hyde, forty-seven years old, of Jersey City. The widow gave her address as No. 1153 Henderson street, Jersey City, but as this number is hidden beneath the waves of New York Bay it is supposed that she gave Justice Markley a purposely fictitious address.

Mr. Ruge, who talked with a broad British accent, said that he had been twice widowed while his bride had laid away two husbands. Ruge said they were on their way to Maine, where he has a small estate.

BREEN IS FOR HEARST.

Magistrate in Sulzer's Friend, but Believes Masses Favor Editor.

City Magistrate Matthew P. Breen was a letter to William B. Mitchell, Chairman of the Sulzer Committee, today expressing the belief that the Democratic convention will make a mistake if it does not nominate William B. Hearst. While expressing sentiments of personal friendship for Mr. Sulzer, the Magistrate declines to identify himself with the movement to secure for him the nomination.

He says in part: "It would be idle to accuse Mr. Murphy of being personally devoted to Mr. Hearst, and therefore we are bound to believe his cold, fairly risen above his personal feelings and frankly told what he knows to be the fact."

ITALIAN MATHEMATICIAN HERE
Signor Giolitti, a son of the Prime Minister of Italy, accompanied by his wife, arrived to-day on the steamer Lusitania from Naples. He is a Professor of mathematics and has come to attend courses of lectures at some of the universities here.

Spend Tenth of Your Income on Your Girl

Betty Vincent Says She Is Your Religion and Deserves This Attention, and That She Should Know Truth About Your Salary.

BY BETTY VINCENT.

HOW many young men tell a girl the truth about their incomes? What proportion of his income should a young man spend on a girl who interests him?

If an indignant young man reader of The Evening World is right in the conclusion he voices in a letter he has written me, there are a lot of $10 and $12 a week young men who deceive their girl acquaintances by making them believe they earn three or four times these sums. He writes:

How often have I heard the fellows tell the girls, "Oh, money is no object. I make $20 some-times more—a week, only I had a good time a few nights ago and that took all my ready cash, but I'll square up next time."

Personally I know that those same fellows never made more than from $7 to $12 a week. Can you blame the girls when they want him to "square up" and have a good time when the time comes for him to make good? A girl seems to appreciate it more when she knows that you only make from $12 to $15 a week and call with a sound of good candy and a good theatre seat than when you tell her you make $100 a month and come with a $1 seal.

She thinks what a mean, stingy fellow you are, for then she takes the good-priced things as a matter of course, and can you blame her?

Another thing: Have you ever heard of a man advertising his earnings who really got enough for a decent living? I have always followed the rule not to overstate my wages to anybody, and have saved myself a whole lot of trouble thereby, for if I'm ashamed to state my low wages I ought not to brag of them.

And if the girl knows the true state of a man's financial affairs she won't overdo the state and you won't have to curtail your expenses for the following two weeks to make up for that good time.

Sensible and True.
All of which is very sensible and very true. A great many young men complain of the extravagant expectations of New York girls. But do they not bring these expectations upon themselves by posing as the possessors of more money than they really have? I'm afraid they do.

The man who actually eats a fifteen-cent quick lunch talks airily of having dropped into some very high-priced restaurant for a bite, and it is no wonder that when he takes a girl to the theatre and to supper she expects him to treat her at least as well as he treats himself.

Tell the girls the truth about your income, young men. They will respect you more, and what may seem to you quite as important they will not require you to spend as much.

If you are making $10 a week and the girl knows it, and like you, she will be just as much pleased with the pound of candy you can afford to give her as she would be with the dozen American beauties and a tale of more princely salary would naturally lead her to expect.

This is a ways a good investment in the long run. It pays extra dividends in the matter of stating one's income. If you tell the truth about it, you yourself the struggle of trying to live up to a lie.

Duty Owed to Sweetheart.
People religiously inclined think it fair to give a title of their incomes to the church. Your girl, or should be, your religion, young man, and you can afford to spend a tenth of your income on her. That will cost harder on the $10 man than on the $100 man. Indeed, the latter is privileged to spend as much more than this title of affection as his feelings dictate.

The man in love wants to spend nine-tenths of his income, of course. The woman in love develops always a desire to save his pocketbook in every way. So between the two, some reasonable practical scale of expenditure must be adopted. And I think the title idea is a good one.

Of course, there are girls who deliberately tempt young men to expenditures which they know cannot be afforded.

for her. The only thing for a man to do with this kind of woman is to drop her. She is heartless and selfish, and a miracle could not make her into a good wife.

So, young men, take my advice. Tell the truth about your incomes. Pay nothing affecting to your girl. Cut out the woman you can't afford.

He Wants Her to Write.

Dear Betty:
I am acquainted with a young man whom I have known for a number of years. He lived out of town, and recently, consequently I did not see much of him till lately when he called on me. On leaving he asked me if I would write to him. I told him I thought it was his place to write first, but he said he would like to have me write first, saying he would answer my letters. Now will you please advise me whether I should write to him first? He is a thorough gentleman.

MADGE.
There would be no harm in writing to him a nice friendly letter. But don't let it be in the least sentimental.

How Much Money Have You Made in New York Real Estate?

TAKE THE
MUNICIPAL FERRY

To South
New York

TO - MORROW

And See What $5 a Month Will Do.

Lots in Richmond Borough to-day are as cheap as they were in the Bronx seven years ago. How many Bronx lots did you buy? Richmond is the only Borough left.

We offer you a lot in New York City—within 45 minutes of Wall Street—for $190. ($10 down, $5 a month). Can you match this in any city in the United States? Here are choice building lots, almost within sight of the Battery, with granolithic walks, graded streets, shade trees, water, gas and every improvement—closer to the City Hall than $2,000 lots in the Bronx. These lots at $190 are bargains. They are the LAST low priced building sites left in New York.

Consider What This Means

Every Borough has had a boom but Richmond. You are too late now for the Bronx, South Brooklyn or Queens. But you are not too late for Richmond, provided you act quickly.

Richmond will pass through the same experience as the other boroughs. It is high, dry and healthy; it is only four miles from the Battery; it has a twenty minutes' service now on the finest Municipal ferry in the world; it is to have a subway under the Narrows, plans for which have already been officially endorsed; it is to be the centre of vast experiments in Municipal Ownership, which will be watched with interest by the entire country; it is to-day the only undeveloped territory left in New York City; it is the only spot within eight miles of the City Hall where good lots are cheap, where you can buy at the prices of thirty years ago, where the city government spends $2 in improvements for every $1 collected in taxes.

If This Is True Why Do You Hesitate?

Surely you have $10 to invest in something good; surely you can lay aside $5 a month. If you had done this in the Bronx seven years ago, what would you be worth to-day?

Don't always be "too late." Don't always wait until prices have advanced 50%, 100%, 200%, and then pay a more prudent man his profit. Figure the thing out for yourself. That's what WE did, and now we are investing in Richmond Borough thousands and thousands of dollars—money that we made six years ago in Brooklyn, when we offered lots at $290 that are to-day worth $1,000.

We have begun a tremendous campaign in Richmond. It will be the biggest ever undertaken in this or any other city. Are you coming in with us at the beginning, or are you going to "wait" and let this last opportunity to buy low-priced lots in New York City slip through your fingers?

Addition No. 3 is now ready. Go out and look it over—to-day if possible—or, better still, go Sunday, and take your wife with you. Don't wait until all the best lots are gone. Additions No. 1 and 2 were sold out in two weeks. 16 houses are now being built.

Take the Municipal Ferry at the Battery—a delightful ride of twenty minutes across New York Bay on the finest and fastest ferry in the world, for 5 cents. Look for trolleys marked "South New York," and get off at Jewell avenue. We will refund fares paid by you and your friends.
